Viable Sources

Viable Sources:

Viable sources are those from reputable authors— either government agencies, scholarly journals, renowned expert's books, white papers, and articles, and industry association publications besides reference books. Examples of non-viable sources would be Wikipedia, YouTube™, social media sites, personal blogs etc.