

The marketing director described the product previously as: gloves that have sensors that automatically warm to the body's temperature and can be adjusted for additional heat for skiers and snowboarders, etc., at approximately $20 per pair. They are rechargeable after 6 hours of use.